About Your Experience

Have you ever wanted to try skydiving but don't think you quite have the nerve to willingly throw yourself out of a plane? The good news is you don't have to. You can enjoy the thrill and sensation of sky diving with this fantastic introductory experience... indoors.

Imagine a wind tunnel, turned upright, so that the air travels upwards. Now imagine yourself caught in that powerful updraft. This concept is used by the sky diving community to practice their freefall technique before they take to the skies. Now you can try it at one of three locations across the UK. You'll feel the thrill of being suspended in mid air by a 120mph air stream. This introduction offers each participant two flights, that's the same freefall time as three tandem skydives, but in a completely safe indoor environment.

Available in Buckinghamshire, Hampshire and Greater Manchester.
